

The New York Times

MUSIC | THE YEAR IN CULTURE

Anthony Tommasini's 10 Best Classical Music Events of 2014

December 11, 2014

Anthony Tommasini

(...)

David Greilsammer, Le Poisson Rouge The brilliant Israeli pianist David Greilsammer has a gift for devising programs that intriguingly juxtapose old and new music. At the inviting Greenwich Village music club Le Poisson Rouge, Mr. Greilsammer had an audience engrossed as he alternated sonatas by Scarlatti, played on a piano, with sonatas by John Cage, played on an adjacent prepared piano. (You can hear this program on his Sony recording.)

(...)